WORLD MILK DAY JUNE 1

VARGESE KURIEN THE MILK MAN OF INDIA

Born 26 November 1921 · Calicut, Madras Presidency, British India (now Kozhikode, Kerala, India)

Died 9 September 2012 (aged 90) · Nadiad, Gujarat, India

Alma mater University of Madras · Michigan State University

Occupation(s) General Manager and later chairman, AMUL, Chairman – NDDB (National Dairy Development Board) and IRMA (Institute of Rural Management, Anand, Bombay province (later Bombay state and now in Gujarat, India), Chairman National Cooperative Dairy Federation of India, Anand.

Other names Father of the White Revolution of India · Milkman of India. Indian Milk Man

A Padma Vibhushan awardee, Varghese Kurien was the masterbrain behind making India the largest milk producer in the world. He was also the recipient of the World Food Prize and the Magsaysay Award.

Dr Varghese Kurien will always be remembered as the person who redefined the meaning of milk as a powerful tool for economic development.

As per Varghese Kurien, farmers are the most important part of the food cycle. In the absence of a farmer, a food processor, marketer, and distributor will have no role.

World Environment Day JUNE 5

World Environment Day is the largest platform that advocates the practice of sustainable development around the world. With the current pace of the overutilization of natural resources, the future generation is likely to be deprived of these resources. Millions of people around the world participate in this program to protect and conserve the environment to fulfill the needs of the future generation.

History The history of World Environment Day can be traced back to 1972 when the United Nations Conference on the Human Environment was held in Stockholm, Sweden. As a result of this conference, the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP) was established on June 15, 1972. The UNEP proposed a special day for the environment. In 1972 ..

THEME 2023

World Environment Day 2023 will be dedicated to 'Solutions to Plastic Pollution'. The theme aims to encourage people to use alternative products to plastic that will help reduce pollution. In light of the harm plastics can cause, its usage should be reduced. To mark the day, UN Environment Programme released a one-minute video on Youtube. It was captioned, "Let's do better to #beatplasticpollution this World Environment Day 2023."

SIGNIFICANCE

Ivory Coast will host World Environment Day celebrations in 2023. A statement on the United Nations website described World Environment Day as the largest global platform for environmental public outreach.

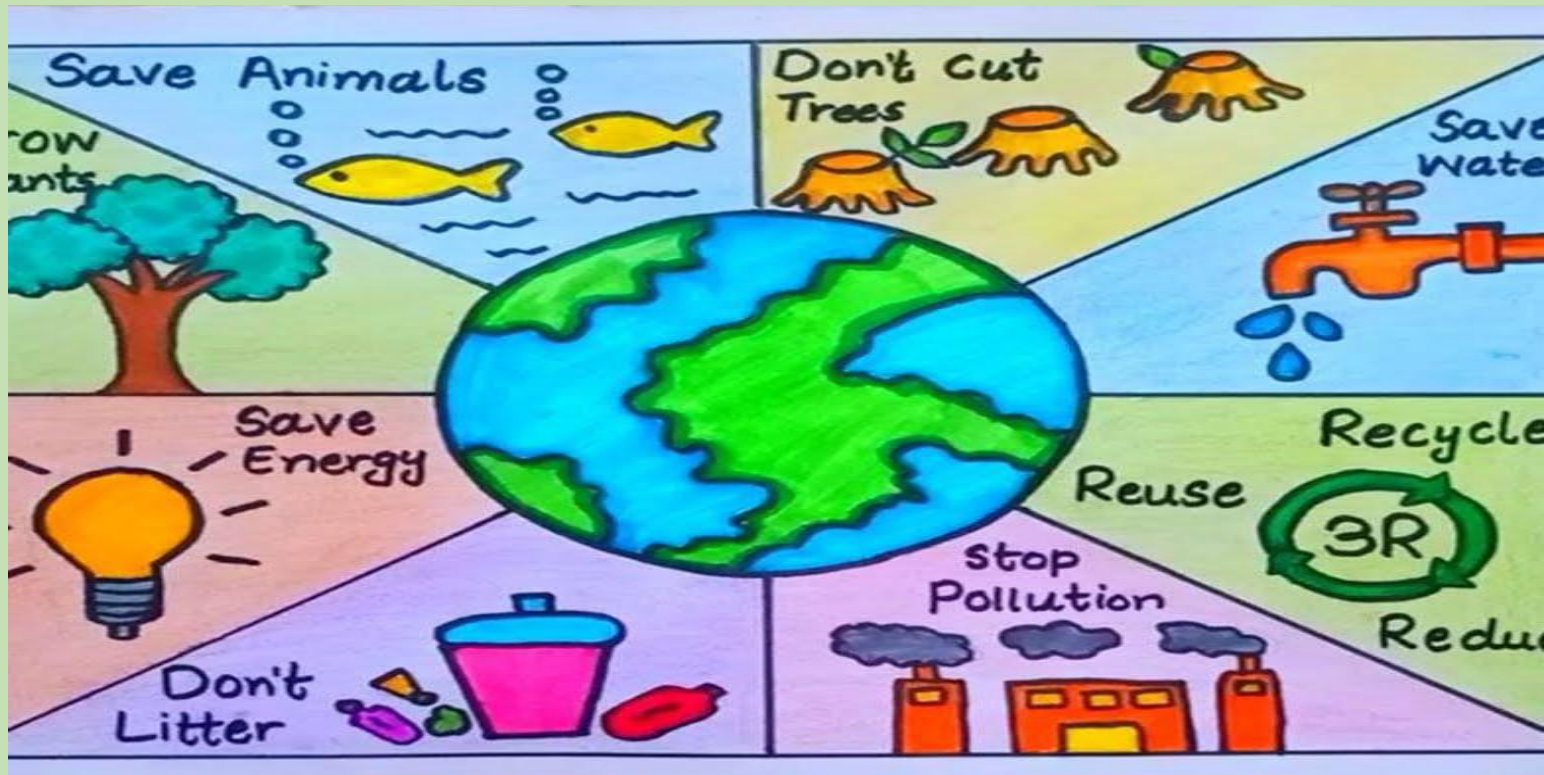

In March 2022, 175 UN member countries signed a resolution adopted by the UN Environment Assembly to eliminate plastic pollution. This has helped reduce greenhouse gas emissions from plastic production, use, and disposal. A legally binding agreement is expected in 2024. The agreement will include measures to reduce single-use plastics, increase recycling and waste management, and promote the use of sustainable alternatives to plastic.

History has shown that protecting the environment is essential to our physical and mental well-being. It is imperative to remember that the environment is a shared responsibility and that we all need to take action to make a difference. Everyone can contribute to preserving and improving the environment, no matter how small.

WORLD ENVIRONMENT DAY

Every day should be environment day. Let's increase the development and reduce the destruction. Be committed to saving the environment.

JUNE AUTHORS

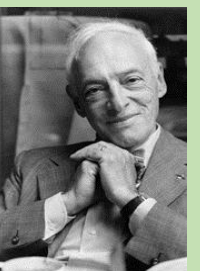

Thomas Hardy (2nd June) Hardy, best known for his works “Tess of the d’Urbervilles”, “Far From the Madding Crowd” and “Jude the Obscure” was prolific. He was also a great poet who wrote about the simplicity and natural beauty of rural life. His tradition was that of Victorian realism, but he also wrote about nature and its profound beauty

Aleksandr Pushkin (6th June) It is said that what Shakespeare was to England, Pushkin was to Russia. Indeed, Pushkin pioneered Russian literature and many later writers the likes of Leo Tolstoy, Anton Chekhov and Vladimir Nabokov pay homage to him. His major works include “Eugene Onegin”, “Autumn”, “Poltava” and “The Gypsies”. His writing is truly a wonder

Orhan Pamuk (7th June) This Nobel Prize-winning author of “My Name is Red”, “The Red-Haired Woman”, “The Museum of Innocence” and more is a prolific writer. His stories centre around Turkey, but his themes are pervasive and relatable. He also draws on history and mythology to craft stories. His works question and explore themes of national, cultural and personal identity

Saul Bellow (10th June) Bellow is such a wonderful writer that he won both the Nobel Prize in Literature as well as the Pulitzer Prize for fiction. Some of the Canadian American writer’s works include “Herzog”, “The Adventures of Augie March”, “Humboldt’s Gift” and “Mr. Sammler’s Planet”. He also wrote plays such as “Under the Weather” that are critically acclaimed

William Butler Yeats (13th June) The Irish poet Yeats won the Nobel Prize for Literature for his works such as “A Prayer For My Daughter”, “The Stolen Child” and “Among School Children”. Yeats was a poet of the Romanticist tradition, which means he wrote observant and contemplative writing influenced by the natural world. He was a contemporary of Wordsworth and the like.

Erich Segal (16th June) Creating the most sensational love story written to date, Segal’s “Love Story” won him an immense mass following. The story which follows the passionate yet tragic love affair of Oliver and Jenny, transcends daily, regular love stories. Some of his other books include “Doctors”, “Man, Woman and Child” and more.

Salman Rushdie (19th June) Rushdie, who was exiled from India, lived in Pakistan and now lives in the United States, is a writer of magical realism. His most famous work, which earned him worldwide acclaim, is “Midnight’s Children”, about people born on the midnight of India’s freedom who possess magical abilities. His other works are “Satanic Verses”, for which he became the centre of religious controversy, “Quichotte”, a retelling of Don Quixote and “The Enchantress of Florence”, historical fiction about Akbar, the Mughal emperor

POEM OF THE MONTH FOR RECITATION

People are often unreasonable, illogical and self-centered;

Forgive them anyway.

If you are kind, people may accuse you of selfish, ulterior motives;

Be kind anyway.

If you are successful, you will win some false friends and some true enemies;

Succeed anyway.

If you are honest and frank, people may cheat you;

Be honest and frank anyway.

What you spend years building, someone could destroy overnight;

Build anyway.

If you find serenity and happiness, they may be jealous;

Be happy anyway.

The good you do today, people will often forget tomorrow;

Do good anyway.

Give the world the best you have, and it may never be enough;

Give the world the best you've got anyway.

You see, in the final analysis, it is between you and your God;

It was never between you and them anyway.

MUST BE PROTECTED.

World Day Against Child Labour 2023: Theme

The theme of World Against Child Labour 2023 is "Protect children from child labour, now more than ever". Due to COVID-19 pandemic, the resulting economic and labour market have a huge impact on the lives of people and livelihoods. Unfortunately, children are often the first to suffer. The crisis can also push millions of vulnerable children into child labour.

The theme of World Day against Child Labour 2019 was "Children shouldn't work in fields, but on dreams". The theme focuses on the development of the children working in the agriculture sector throughout the world. Around 152 million

KEN SPILLMAN, AUSTRALIAN AUTHOR AND EDITOR
who visited our school and interacted with our children

With around 80 books to his name, Ken Spillman is one of Australia's most prolific and versatile authors, editors and critics. He has tackled both fiction and non-fiction, winning and being shortlisted for numerous prizes.

Ken's writing for children has appeared on four continents in many different languages. He has entertained more than 90,000 children with his lively presentations on the magic of books, the gift of imagination and the countless benefits of creative thinking.

Ken is also a highly popular speaker at international festivals and conferences. We were fortunate to have him in our school in June thanks to our management and our principal.

Ken Spillman is a genius if you put him in front of children. His verve, his enthusiasm, and his ability to become a child in front of a children audience is remarkable... He keeps them absolutely enthralled! There is an instant connect, and it doesn't matter whether they go to high-class private schools in the best neighbourhoods or a government-run school in a little lane. He is a pleasure to watch.

Our students, were particularly engrossed with Ken's presentation and sharing of his ideas... We look forward to working with Ken again in writing workshops if we are lucky enough to have him back here again.

It was an immense pleasure to have him here with us for an interactive session with our children. We are grateful to him to have spared his valuable time to share his views, ideas and experiences with our students. His inspirational words have been made note of and shall be guided to the students to do well in life.

One only had to look at the students' faces and hear them discussing their writing as they left the room to know how enthusiastically they embraced his messages... Every teacher found the sessions practical and that he had encapsulated the spirit of reading and writing that they had been struggling to impart. His presentation was amazing! Everyone learned a lot about writing stories. He was a man on a mission, bent on connecting children with the magic and power of imagination and writing.

Ken Spillman writes history in a marvellously lucid style, one enhanced further by a keen turn of phrase, or sharp observation, at an appropriate moment in the narrative. He writes the history of institutions with a deep sense of their broader context.

Dr Ken Spillman served for a number of years as judge of one of WA's richest local history awards, run by the City of Subiaco.

On many occasions, Dr Ken Spillman has managed the publication of many books from manuscript through to design and print. His experience working with publishers, designers, and printers enables him to offer comprehensive service from concept to delivery.

He has also enjoyed remarkable success with fiction for children. His books for young readers now appear in around 20 countries, with translations into such diverse languages as French, Farsi, Serbian, Spanish, Turkish and Vietnamese.
