YEAR END REFLECTIONS

.Wow ... another Calender year is coming to a close.
Can you believe it?!

Remember the start of the year, with all those fresh ideas, resolutions and new found hopes in the aftermah of the just receding Pandemic.

This time of year is an excellent time to get students to reflect on the year that has passed.

These reflection questions will help your students to reflect on the year and remember the moments and experiences that really stood out,

- What are the two best memories you have of this year?
- What was your favourite event/excursion/special performance this year?
- What is the nicest thing someone did for you this year?
- In what area do you feel you have improved in the most?
- What are 3 new things/skills you've learned, that you didn't know at the start of the year?
- What's something you did for someone else this year?
- What's the best piece of work/project/assignment you've done this year?
- What subject have you enjoyed the most? Why?
- What are 6 adjectives you could use to describe the best parts of this year?
- What have you learned about yourself this year?
- What are you most proud of this year?
- Three things you have statred doing this year to make pursuit of excellence a habit in your life?
- The one thing that you are doing to become the best of what you can be in all spheres of your life?

Students can answer and present their reflections in a variety of ways, depending on their age and stage, and also on how much time they can spend on these. It could be a simple discussion in pairs. Or a short group presentation. Or they could write, illustrate, type, make a slide show. This reflection process is not only enjoyable, it is also a fabulous way to consolidate the year and reflect on the positives. Enjoy the journey. And more importantly, enjoy the moments.

Don't Quit!

When things go wrong, as they sometimes will,
When the roads you're trudging seem all uphill,
When the funds are low and debts are high,
And you want to smile but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing you down quite a bit
Rest if you must, but don't quit.

For life is queer with its twists and turns,
As every one of us sometimes learns,
And many a failure runs about,
When he might have won if he'd stuck it out.
Don't give up though the pace seems slow,
You may succeed with another blow.

Often the goal is nearer than,
It seems to a faint and faltering man,
Often the struggler has given up,
When he might have captured the victor's cup;
And he learned to late when the night came down,
How close he was to the golden crown.

Success is just failure turned inside out,
The silver tint of the clouds of doubt,
And you never can tell how close you are,
It may be near when it seems so far.
So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit,
It's when things seem worst that you must not quit!

ORIGIN OF CHRISTMAS

UNITES

Christmas is a popular December holiday celebrated by large numbers of people all around the world. Christmas (or "the Mass of Christ") has long been known as the celebration of the birth of Jesus Christ, and the celebration first began to be observed in the early fourth century. However, some traditions associated with Christmas actually began as a part of pagan culture; these were "Christianized" and given new meaning by the church.

The exact date of Jesus' birth is unknown, as the Bible does not give specifics as to the dates of either His birth or conception. For various reasons, the date of December 25 gained wide acceptance.

At the time of Christ, Roman culture already celebrated a holiday in December: Saturnalia honored the god Saturn and was celebrated from December 17 to about December 24. Later, the Romans began celebrating Sol Invictus or the "Unconquered Sun," associated with the winter solstice and observed on December 25. When Rome eventually instituted Christianity as the state religion in the fourth century, the Roman church converted Saturnalia and Sol Invictus to a Christian holiday, the Feast of the Nativity, in order to commemorate Jesus' birth, thus providing a spiritually positive alternative to a pagan celebration. The sinful customs and debauchery associated with Saturnalia were "cleaned up," and some of the customs were absorbed into the celebration of Christmas. Christians have "redeemed" December 25 and have celebrated it as the birth of Christ ever since the fourth century.

Given the association Christmas had with the ancient pagan calendar, the question then becomes, "Since Christmas shares a date with a pagan holiday, is it acceptable for Christians to celebrate it?" It is important to note that Christmas, Saturnalia, and Sol Invictus were all distinct holidays; they were never identical to each other. Also, although some elements of Christmas celebrations (e.g., bells, candles, holly, and yule decorations) are mentioned in the history of pagan worship, the use of such items in one's home in no way indicates a return to paganism. Christians simply celebrate Christmas to remember the birth of Jesus Christ-

The Best Seed

There once was a farmer who grew the most excellent wheat.

Every season he won the award for the best wheat in his county.

A wise woman came to him to ask him about his success.

He told her that the key was sharing his best seed with his neighbors so they could plant the seed as well.

The wise woman asked, "How can you share your best wheat seed with your neighbors when they complete with you every year?"

"That's simple," the farmer replied.

"The wind spreads the pollen from everyone's wheat and carries it from field to field.

"If my neighbors grew inferior wheat, cross-pollination would degrade everyone's wheat, including mine.

"If I'm to grow the best wheat, I must help my neighbors grow the best wheat as well."

This is not only excellent advice for growing the best crops, but also great advice for how to live your life.

If you want to live a meaningful and happy life, help others find happiness.

Remember: The value of your life is measured by the lives you touch with love, kindness, respect, and hope.

JOSEPH RUDYARD KIPLING

Joseph Rudyard Kipling (30 December 1865 – 18 January 1936) was an English journalist, short-story writer, poet, and novelist. He was born in India, which inspired much of his work. Kipling's works of fiction include The Jungle Book (1894), Kim (1901), and many short stories, including "The Man Who Would Be King" (1888). His poems include "Mandalay" (1890), "Gunga Din" (1890), "The Gods of the Copybook Headings" (1919), "The White Man's Burden" (1899), and "If—" (1910).

- He is seen as an innovator in the art of the short story.
- His children's books are classics; one critic noted "a versatile and luminous narrative gift". Kipling in the late 19th and early 20th centuries was among the United Kingdom's most popular writers.
- Henry James said, "Kipling strikes me personally as the most complete man of genius, as distinct from fine intelligence, that I have ever known." In 1907, he was awarded the Nobel Prize in Literature, as the first English-language writer to receive the prize, and at 41, its youngest recipient to date.
- He was also sounded for the British Poet Laureateship and several times for a knighthood, but declined both.
- Following his death in 1936, his ashes were interred at Poets' Corner, part of the South Transept of Westminster Abbey. Kipling's subsequent reputation has changed with the political and social climate of the age.
- The contrasting views of him continued for much of the 20th century.
- George Orwell saw Kipling as "a jingo imperialist", who was "morally insensitive and aesthetically disgusting".
- Literary critic Douglas Kerr wrote: "[Kipling] is still an author who can inspire passionate disagreement and his place in literary and cultural history is far from settled.
- But as the age of the European empires recedes, he is recognised as an incomparable, if controversial, interpreter of how empire was experienced.
- That, and an increasing recognition of his extraordinary narrative gifts, make him a force to be reckoned with."-KMR RESOURCE CENTRE

Your Best

If you always try your best
 Then you'll never have to wonder
 About what you could have done
 If you'd summoned all your thunder.

And if your best
 Was not as good
 As you hoped it would be,
 You still could say,
 "I gave today
 All that I had in me."

Facts about students:

- Many students are staying closer to home. In 2016, 37.9 percent attended a college within 50 miles of their permanent residence.
- First-generation students (those that are the first in their family to attend college) are less likely to attend their number one choice of university, once accepted.
- According to 2016 research performed by the Higher Education Research Institute at the University of California, Los Angeles, 46.7 percent of students considered a campus visit "very important" before selecting a college.
- The average time that students spend on social networks has risen to an all-time high.
- Despite an always-on society and the wireless lifestyle of modern students, college-goers still greatly value spending quality time with their friends.
- 75.2 percent of students who spent at least six hours a week on social media also spent at least six hours with friends in person.
- Ironically, students don't rely heavily on social media to research their housing options.
